NEW YEAR'S DAY BLAZE AT HOSPITAL AND SANITARIUM.

FIRE AT DAYTONA HOSPITAL AND SANITARIUM SATURDAY MORN-ING WAS QUICKLY SUBDUED
BY FIRE DEPARTMENT AND
MEN WHO WERE LAUNCHING
BOAT NEARBY.

About ten o'clock Saturday morning a party of ladies and gentlemen, who were watching the launching of a boat in front of the Saratoga Inn, on South Beach street, discovered a blaze upon the roof of the Daytona Hospital and Sanitarium which adjoins the Inn on the south. The alarm was at once sent in to the telephone central and the electric light plant and the fire whistle and bell were sounded. In the meantime men engaged in launching the boat hurried to the roof of the hospital and by means of buckets kept the fire under control with water from a tank close at hand until the arrival of the volunteer fire company with the hose, when the water was turned on what remained of the fire under the roof, and it was quickly extinguished. The damage was confined to a section of the roof and one or two rooms immediately beneath.

There was a good pressure of water and the fire company, which was quickly on the scene, did most efficient work. It was fortunate that the blaze was discovered at an early stage and help was near at hand. The fire, it would seem, must have originated from a spark from the chimney nearby.

WILL TRY FOR SOUTH POLE IN A BALLOON.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 3.—On the authority of prominent members of the Russian Geographical society it is stated today that two Russian army officers will attempt to reach the South pole in a dirigible balloon. The balloons have already been bought. Ernest Shackleton, the English explorer who reached the farthest point south, says the project will be impossible on account of the peculiar Antarctic air currents.

THE SPEED BOAT "1910" LAUNCHED NEW YEAR'S DAY

The new speed boat "1910," recently completed for J. H. Baker, by Contractor E. S. Hall, was launched with appropriate ceremonies New Year's Day from in front of the Saratoga Inn on South Beach street.

The boat is a wedge, 36 feet, 6 inches in length, and 3 feet and 10 inches wide at the stern. She is fitted with a racing model, 50 horse power, 6-cylinder Fox engine and is expected to develop 25 miles per hour.

NEW FLORIDA BANK.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 3.—All legal requirements will be concluded today by the organizers of the Fourth National Bank, and it is expected that the new institution will open its doors a week from today. The new bank has a capital of $400,000.

BALLINGER-PINCHOT ROW TO BE LOOKED INTO.

CONGRESS WILL INVESTIGATE
THE CONTROVERSY AND THE CHARGES OF CONSPIRACY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—According to prospects Senator Kapute Nelson of Minnesota will preside at the trials of Secretary Ballinger and Chief Forester Pinchot, which is to be conducted by a joint committee of six members each from the Senate and House.

The resolution providing for the investigation is to be introduced in both branches of Congress Wednesday. The charges of conspiracy by both sides is expected to make the chairmanship difficult. Important developments are expected.

"MEADOW BROOK FARM" TO BE PRESENTED JAN. 11th.

In the story of W. F. Mann's newest success, "Meadow Brook Farm," which comes to Daytona on Jan. 11th, the author, L. B. Parker, has woven a most interesting story around the life of "Si Holden," a quaint New England farmer, whose grand daughter, Mary Holden, is being prosecuted by one of those city chaps, Stanley Ward from Boston. Ward has been the direct cause of Mary's being an orphan and he is in possession of certain facts regarding a fortune left her by a distant relative. He lays his plans with a view to his marriage with Mary, but is thwarted in his designs by Jim Jasper, who has been Mary's protector through childhood.

Polly Bird, a servant, and Billy Bates, a circus bill poster, figure very conspicuously in the story and furnish a copious amount of comedy which may also be said of Sim Smith and Tim Slocum, the town constable and justice of the peace, who are instrumental in dealing out justice to Stanley Ward.

The scenery carried by the company is a feature and the company consists of players of prominence, and who are headed by Lov Streeter.

CHARITY BALL AN ELABORATE AFFAIR

The first annual Charity Ball given by the local lodge of Elks at the armory New Years Eve was one of the most enjoyable affairs of its kind ever held in Daytona. About thirty couples were present, although the attendance would no doubt have been double that number had the weather been more favorable.

The music furnished by Wood's Orchestra was up to the usual standard of that organization. The decorations of the armory were beautiful and drew forth much favorable comment.

EPISCOPAL TEA AT HOME OF MRS. HUSTON.

The beautiful home of Coland Mrs. M. Huston, on South Beach street was thrown open Saturday afternoon from three to five o'clock, for the first of a series of teas to be given this winter for the benefit of the choir boys' fund of the Episcopal church. The genial atmosphere of the home and the fact that Mrs. Huston was hostess made the afternoon a delightful affair for visiting friends as well as members of the church and congregation. The parlors and dining room were decorated in Christmas colors. Sandwiches, wafers, tea and coffee were served. Mrs. M. Wilder presided at the tea urn, assisted by Miss Wilder and Miss Fay Stewart, and Misses Keating, of the Girls' Auxilliary.

THREE THOUSAND RIFLES SEIZED IN FINLAND.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 3.—Russian authorities today seized 3000 rifles and a million cartridges which were being smuggled into Finland by prospective revolutionists. The seizure developed a widespread conspiracy under way against Russia's recent oppression.

Ernest Schneider was a Harwood visitor from Saturday until Sunday evening.

BUCK'S

Happy New Year

The year just passed has been a mighty prosperous one for us and to the many friends and patrons who have aided in making our success possible, we are truly grateful.

We are ambitious and we want to make 1910 the biggest and best year in our store's history. We realize that only by serving your interests better than the rest can we hope to accomplish our object—so for 1910 we promise even better and more efficient store service, bigger and if possible better goods and the same reasonable prices. We aim to give you perfect store service. We trust by this means to be favored with your continued patronage.

For 1910 we wish you the happiest, most prosperous year you have ever known.

JOHN BARRETT, NOTED DIPLOMAT. URGES UNION OF LATIN REPUBLICS

John Barrett, director of the international bureau of American republics and who probably knows more than any other man about conditions in Central America and the relations of the United States with the little republics, has come out as a strong advocate of a union of the Central American republics. He urges that this country take all possible friendly steps to bring about such a coalition and declares that it is the only solution of the continued difficulties that have harassed the isthmian countries for the last fifty years. In a recent statement Mr. Barrett said: "One nation formed from these five republics would have an area of 170,000 square miles, or more than the combined areas of the six New England states, with New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey added; an eastern or Atlantic coast line of 900 miles, equal to the reach from Boston to Savannah, and a western or Pacific shore of 1,100 miles, equal to the distance from San Diego to Seattle; an annual foreign trade valued at $5,000,000, of which nearly half would be with the United States, and a population exceeding 3,000,000. A republic of which these figures of area, commerce and population are descriptive certainly would be an important and potential accession to the pan-American family of nations."

JUDGE LURTON SWORN IN THE YACHT ELECTRIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Judge Horace D. Lurton, of Tennessee, was sworn in as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States when that august body reconvened today after the holiday recess.

The first important case to confront Judge Lurton will be that of the government against the American Tobacco company involving the construction of the Sherman anti-trust law. The new Justice is from Clarksville, Tenn., one of the big dark tobacco centres and the neighborhood of activities on the part of the night riders.

The Standard Oil cases will probably be advanced and argued soon after the tobacco trust case is heard. Attorney General Wickersham probably will make an argument in both cases.

GOLD MEDAL FOR KAISER.

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—Gen. Stewart Woodford of New York, arrived here today with a medal of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, which he will present in person to the Kaiser.

WAR ON HIGH-PRICED FOOD STUFFS STARTED.

ONE MILLION FAMILIES WILL BOYCOTT COMBINES — BEEF TRUST FIRST.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—War on higher prices of food stuffs, which will seriously cripple the combines, is being planned today by a central committee here that proposes a boycott by one million families throughout the country. The first battle will be against the beef trust. Forty persons, including several congressmen, met yesterday to lay plans for the campaign.

WHAT ALDERMAN MILLS SAYS OF CITY ISLAND WORK.

In speaking of the work to be done on City Island, Alderman E. J. Mills recently said: "There is not much of a story to tell just now, except of repeated disappointment in those with whom I had arranged to begin dredging again."

"I firmly expected Mr. Melton to begin work on the Island Monday, and have heard nothing to the contrary from him, but understand he is at work on another job. This is the second or third time I have been disappointed in his beginning the work, though on the other occasions there were excuses. Nobody regrets this delay any more than I, for the reason that the people who have contributed to this fund naturally want to see something doing. Also, after while, a little later in the season, my business will require all of my attention."

"The money has been paid for all the work done, and the money is on hand or plainly in sight with which to pay for the dredging contracted for. A week's work with the dredge would put it in condition for leveling and other work to be done, such as the locating of the fountain, etc., and as I said in the beginning, I am exceedingly anxious to have the dredging resumed."

WILL PEARY SUBMIT DATA TO COPENHAGEN UNIVERSITY?

MOVEMENT NOW ON FOOT LOOK-ING TO THAT END — COOK'S

DATA ON ITS WAY TO WASH-INGTON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A movement is on foot here toward having Peary submit his polar records to the same committee of the University of Copenhagen which examined Cook's records.

Cook's records are now on the way here to be examined by the committee which declared Peary successful. It is pointed out that Peary's supporters cannot do less than urge him to take the same course.

CARRIED HOME BEARSKIN AS TROPHY OF HUNT.

J. B. Garrison and his guests, W. M. Garrison and W. C. Barnette formed a successful hunting party last week with John Roberts as guide. They hunted in the Harwood district and besides bagging a quantity of small game and a large hen turkey, also secured a fine two-year old bear, weighing a hundred pounds or more, the flesh of which was very tender and nice.

W. M. Garrison was the lucky member of the party who shot the bear and on his return to Charlotte, N. C., carried with him the hide and a portion of the meat as proof of his prowess as a hunter.

The party experienced some very cold weather while out, as they left on Tuesday and did not return until Friday night, but managed, nevertheless to have a good time.

LUNCHEON FOR MISS TAFT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given today by Mrs. Meyer, wife of the Secretary of the Navy.

TORRENTIAL RAINS FLOOD SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

TWELVE MAROONED ON AN IS-LAND AND THOUGHT TO BE DEAD, RESCUED THIS MORNING

LOS ANGELOS, Cal., Jan. 3.—Twelve persons marooned on an island formed by the overflowing Santa Ana river, who were believed drowned, were rescued today by life savers.

Torrential rains have raised all the streams to the danger mark.

Volunteers and city employees are busy rescuing many persons marooned in the country houses throughout this section of Southern California.

RAILROAD PRESIDENTS CONFER WITH TAFT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Six big railroad presidents discussed with President Taft today his proposition for drastic railroad control to be set forth in a special message to Congress this week.

The conference was an unusually long one for the White House. Presidents Lovett, Baer, Finley, Brown, McCrea and Mellen, representing the biggest railroad systems of the country were present.

ACCIDENT CORNER SCORES STILL ANOTHER VICTIM.

Another bicycle and automobile accident occurred this morning between ten and eleven o'clock at the corner of Beach street and Volusia avenue.

An automobile driven by a lady and moving at a very moderate speed collided with a bicycle ridden by a colored man throwing him to the ground and wrecking the rear wheel of the bicycle. The rider was not injured. The probable cause of the accident was the usual congested condition of the street at this point, both sides of Beach street from the corner south for some distance being lined with automobiles and carriages. The man was crossing the road to continue up Beach street and the automobile coming south was perhaps too far to the left, but accidents will continue to happen at this point until some means is used to keep clear the roadway.

FOUR GENERATIONS MEET AND DINE TOGETHER.

Mr and Mrs. W. H. Quay, Mrs. E. H. Glenn, Miss Mayme Glenn and Dan R. Lovelace formed an automobile party to DeLand Sunday making the trip in T. B. Collins' car, for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shoemaker. Four generations set down together at dinner, represented by Mr. and Mrs. Quay, Mrs. Glenn, Mrs. Shoemaker and Miss Glenn and little Glenn Shoemaker. Still another living generation was not present.

NOT OBLIGED TO SELL SIX TICKETS FOR 25c

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The Supreme Court of the United States today affirmed the judgment holding the Minneapolis city ordinance, requiring the street railway company to sell six car tickets for a quarter unconstitutional. The decision is important as a precedent.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.
Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey roed fishes in countless numbers bobbing, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom fleck-ed with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk straggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon the beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond's bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.
Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great fes-teons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms;
see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous ferns which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.
No one of Daytona's attractions,
perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another, so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering.
"What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This fact has justly merits prominence as an other wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most
and Best.
Was the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South, is not revealed, but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,
—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruit.
Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive-saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round you are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid
And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which for beauty, prolificacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you.

The Fastest Autos and The Finest
Out.
The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbukto, and you will be "shown." Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the fountains of flowing wells. It is a compulsory show with constantly shifting scene.

Everything goes, from a 2-horse coach, up to a 2-horse power, and all degrees of speed from a snail to a lightning-bolt. You will certainly watch the 3,000, which you will find in the parade and the big show.

Florida's sunshine is free, and the warm breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for coin for amusement and food.

There is no funeral parlor, it's all free. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will warm and hold you. Come and see.

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Halifax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging seas of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide-water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The mean average temperature, 80 degrees in the summer and 70 degrees in the winter, with an occasional extra rise or drop of a few days' duration, marks this as one of the most healthful locations in any section of the country, north, east, south or west.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth
as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth and air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straightaway record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.

The sand of this famous speedway is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, which are about one-half inch long and very thin.
For ages Nature has been rolling them up, washing them back into the surf and pulverizing them. Examined under the microscope each particle is round, unfit for mortar, builders say, because its smoothness prevents its holding together, yet, strange to contemplate, the very moment a wave leaves the wet, apparently soft beach, these round particles settle down into a cement almost as hard as asphalt, beyond the comprehension of one who has not seen it. Repairs are unnecessary, as twice each 24 hours
it is entirely rebuilt by the tides.
The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet, and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobiling some part of each day.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors.

Seabreeze contains a handsome opera house and a Congregational Church at Daytona Beach is a M. E.
Church. An excellent high school is situated near the division line between the two towns. Both towns have enterprising business establishments, as is evidenced by the advertisements on the left and right.

All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated.
The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy. Flowering shrubs have been planted, which are covered with a wealth of bloom both summer and winter.

Work of rebuilding the Clarendon hotel is now in progress. This magnificent fire-proof structure, which is to contain 250 rooms, when completed will be the peer of any hotel in Florida. The site is immediately north of the clubhouse of the Florida
East Coast Automobile Association.
The Ocean Pier is a great attraction to fishermen and it is used summer and winter with enthusiastic display of Iziah Walton, who and it nothing unusual to land with weighing several hundred pounds.

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in state-ly grandeur during the lapse of by-gone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low.

A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile. Silent in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the roof being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

CORONADO
Is situated on the peninsula opposite New Smyrna and is connected by a good road and bridge over the deep current of Indian River. Here you can put aside your conventional garb, breathe in large and deep the salty tonic of the sea and enjoy yourself to your heart's content with rod and reel in row or sail boat or in the ocean surf a short half-mile away. The great varieties of fish inhabiting the river and lagoon pass through the channel from the sea beneath the bridge. From verandas, upper balconies and windows you behold the magnificent river, the distant lagoons and islands, the forest-covered peninsula and the vast reaches of the Atlantic Ocean.

HAWES PARK
A pretty village located along the ridge above the Indian River two and one-half miles south of New Smyrna and connected with fine shell roads. There is the appearance of newness, comfort and seclusion about the place which stamps it as the abode of people who come here to enjoy the blessings of outdoor life away from places where crowds are apt to gather.

ORMOND is five miles north of Daytona, located on the western bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect sanitation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Ormond Beach. Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with sub-tropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, has an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobilizing, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arbors, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are mute invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for carriage or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Cayenne built by the slaves or planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other sub-tropical fruits and flowers. Five miles further on you come to Moondgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moondgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road (passing Number Nine) and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

COTTAGES AND ROOMS TO LET—Furnished; Modern Improvements; on River Front or Side Streets. Rents Reasonable. Write to W. F. COLBY at Ormond.

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, over which spans a bridge from the town to the peninsula opposite.

The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes owned and occupied by residents and winter tourists. It has several churches, one of the best graded schools in Volusia county, two general stores, a real estate agency and two or three hotels.

A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing. Port Orange is in the orange belt and a number of very fine citrus groves are nearby, where oranges, tangerines and grape-fruit hang in profusion. Some of the best trucking land in the State is to be found thereabout and excellent crops are raised.

West of Port Orange a short distance are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a spot that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. At one time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast sugar-cane and indigo plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those days but has been in disuse for thirty or forty years.

A pretty automobile or carriage drive from Daytona is via the ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland. This drive affords a very pleasing variety of scenery.

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed.

At Deland is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.

The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty. In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.

Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute.

From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

LAKE HELEN, FLA.

LAKE HELEN
Surrounded by several pretty lakes and guarded by lofty pine trees is Lake Helen, a winter resort of no little importance. Camp Casagada, a spiritualistic camp-ground is situated near Lake Helen and at this place several hundred people make winter headquarters. A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

MISS RUTH COATES TENDERS DELIGHTFUL WATCH PARTY

Miss Ruth Coates entertained some thirty or more friends at her home on Seabreeze avenue, Daytona Beach, on New Year's eve. The parlor was brightened with New Year's decorations. A large bell was suspended from the centre of the room, and after the company assembled each of the guests were invited to take a New Year's leaf which was suspended from the bell and on which they were expected to write an original New Year's resolution in verse. These resolutions were read aloud to the merriment of the company. Hadwin Courtenay won gentleman's first prize and Miss Grace Keating ladies' first prize. Refreshments were served and a most delightful evening was enjoyed by those participating. The following Daytona society contingent were present: Misses Hinks and Williams and Henry Pellett, Alva Hurd, Everett Willaume, Fairfax Ludlow, Carl Sparks and R. M. Bowers.

UNION PACIFIC MERGER SUIT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Taking of testimony for the defense in the dissolution suit of the government against the Union Pacific Company and other railroads implicated in the alleged merger, is scheduled to be resumed today. The hearing, which was commenced at Cheyenne, Wyo., last October, was postponed until today at the request of the defense, the counsel for the government protesting. It is understood that Judge Van Deventer, of the United States Circuit Court, granted the postponement on the condition that the defense complete their evidence by March 19th, next.

Number of Nails to a Horseshoe.

Centuries ago there lived a farrier, Walter le Brun by name, whose dexterity at the anvil on the occasion of a great tilting meeting on the banks of the Thames was noticed by the then reigning monarch, Edward III., who rewarded the blacksmith by granting him sufficient land adjoining the tilting green for the erection thereon of a forge. As quit rent he had to present annually to the king six horseshoes and sixty-one horseshoe nails. To the modern mind the number of nails would appear to be superfluous, but when it is remembered that the horseshoes of that period required ten nails apiece it will be seen that the calculations of Edward III. merely allowed one over in case of accident. Furthermore, the shoes were all to be for the horse's fore feet, from which fact some historians draw the inference that the animals ridden in the knights' tournaments were encouraged to injure each other with their front hoofs.—London News.

"Correct to a T."

Our earliest quotation for this or for the kindred phrases "to suit one to a T," "to fit to a T," "to know one to a T," is of 1633. Can any one help us to an earlier example? No one of our many instances throws any light upon its origin. A current obvious conjecture would explain "a T" as meaning "a T square," but to this there are various objections. We have no evidence as yet that the name "T square" goes back to the seventeenth century and no example of its being called simply "a T," and in few if any of our instances would the substitution of "a T square" for "a T" make any tolerable sense. The notion seems rather to be that of minute exactness, as it was "to the minutest point." But the evidence is mainly negative. If examples can be found of "T square" before 1700 or of its reduction simply to "T" or of earlier examples of "to a T" they may help to settle the actual origin.—London Notes and Queries.

The First Wire Nail.

Although the wire nail is a small thing, it would be a big thing to do without. Probably no one could estimate the millions or billions or trillions—whatever the number may be—that are used in a single year. Yet the first wire nails in the United States were made no longer ago than 1872. The first machine for their manufacture was brought over from Düsseldorf and set up in Covington, Ky. Later this single machine was multiplied by four and a company was organized. In 1884 the manufacture of wire nails was begun in Beaver Falls, Pa., and the product was already beginning to grow in popularity and usefulness. Just a year later a strike temporarily shut off the manufacture of cut nails, and the wire nail was in such demand that the manufacturers were swamped. From that time dates the supremacy of the wire nail.—Chicago Post.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

AN INFANT MILLIONAIRE.

Billy McClintock of Chicago is six years old and is a multimillionaire, though he does not know he is wealthy.

And therefore he is not greatly interested in the legal fight that is being made between his two rival guardians for the possession of his person—and his money. This is what he wants:

To be a locomotive engineer.

To have his curls cut off short.

To go to a school where there are nice little girls.

Which is about the normal wish of the average American boy of six years.

Interviewed by a newspaper man, Billy was discovered in the feathered war paint of an Indian chief on the point of attacking a band of hostiles in the back yard. "What I want to do is to—to—to—" He hesitated and then said vigorously:

"I want to be a locomotive engineer."

The reporter sounded him along money lines, knowing when the boy grew up—unless cheated out of it—he would have between three and six millions of dollars. Billy said:

"I have lots of money. I spend sometimes 25 cents a week—that is," he added, "counting what I put in my bank."

"Have you an automobile?" was asked.

"Yes. It's a big one with pedals, and I can run it up and down the sidewalk."

Asked concerning his life plans, the boy said: "I'm going to school this fall. I don't want to grow up a know-nothing."

"What sort of school?"

"I'm going where they are all girls—I like them best," positively stated the infant.

"Then," he continued, "when I grow up I am going to be a locomotive engineer and run my train over the mountains of Texas. I used to live in Texas, and I had a pony—a little bit of a one."

And thus the boy babe prattled on.

The child knew nothing of money and cared nothing for it. He knew nothing of the money that was being spilled out by his guardians to get hold of him and his. He only knew—

That he did not like to wear curls, "like girls," and that he wanted to go to school where there are a lot of little girls—just like a man child. And—

Feeling the natural impulse of that strange desire that possesses all healthy humans—to make things go—he wants to be an engineer.

Isn't there a sort of pathos in the little fellow's innocence? And as one notes the simple, earnest, healthful trend of his years one could almost wish for him that those warring guardians might spend all the millions on the lawyers and leave Billy nothing but good health and a good education.

Counterfeit Coin of Great Value.

The unusual occurrence of a counterfeit coin bringing far more than the value it was originally intended to represent by its makers took place recently when a spurious Spanish doubloon of Charles V. of Spain, dated 1501, was sold for $90 at a sale of old coins at the Collectors' club in Philadelphia. The coin was of excellent workmanship, and there was really no striking difference between it and the genuine, but instead of being struck in gold it was composed of platinum of the purest quality, which had been gilded. The intrinsic value of the Spanish doubloon in gold is about $15.61. The platinum counterfeit weighs 420 grains, which at the prevailing market rate of 95 cents a pennyweight for platinum would give this piece an intrinsic value of $17.00.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Enough to Frighten One.

Tommie—Does your papa frighten you when he tries to make you go to sleep? Ethel—Yes; he sings to me!—Yorkers Statesman.

The man who can govern a woman can govern a nation.—Balzac.

An Irish lecturer upon being introduced to his audience said: "Ladies and gentlemen, before I begin to speak I wish to say a few words."

NEWS OF THE HOTELS

The following party arrived Friday and are guests at the Ridgewood: H. Haman, Allentown, Pa.; Miss Nera Haman, Miss Ella Hughes, Miss Elizabeth Harsh, Philadelphia. Among other arrivals of the same date at the Ridgewood were: Mr. and Mrs. John Judd, son and maid, Boston; W. H. Lockhart and wife, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ette, of St. Louis, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Koch and son, Arthur Koch, of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Chas. D. Gillilan, of St. Paul, Minn., arrived New Year's night and are guests at Ivy Lane Inn.

LOCAL ITEMS.

R. F. Sullivan arrived from Starke Friday night and will shortly assist his brother, Ed Sullivan in the barber shop on Noth Beach street.

C. R. M. Sheppard joined his wife and baby at DeLand Saturday, returning to the city Sunday evening. Mrs. Sheppard, he states, is in very poor health.

Thos. Henson, of Champaign, Ill., has purchased through the Bufile agency, the W. H. Byne residence property on Fairview avenue and will occupy it with his wife. The sale was made New Year's Day. This was Mr. Henson's first visit to Daytona, but he quickly decided to have a home here.

Mrs. H. P. Radley, of Terre Haute, Ind., arrived Friday night, to spend the winter. Mrs. Radley is a daughter of Alex Burden, who owns a winter home on Magnolia avenue, and her husband is passenger agent of the Southern Indiana railway. Mrs. Radley has spent previous seasons here and has numerous friends in the city.

LOST, brass padlock, on Ridgewood avenue. Reward for return to 244 S. Ridgewood.

Rev. J. L. Cooper, until lately pastor of the M. E. Church, South, of Kingston, expects to leave next Friday for points down the coast which will be in his charge until spring, when he will probably return north. Mrs. Cooper will remain at Kingston for a month or more, as she is expecting to have with her for a visit, a daughter and her children, who are to arrive Thursday. She will later join Mr. Cooper.

STANDARD'S APPEAL FILED IN SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The appeal of the Standard Oil Company from a recent decision adjudging it a combination in restraint of trade, was finally filed in the United States Supreme Court today.

FORMER U. S. TREASURER INDICTED FOR FRAUD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—James Hutton, former treasurer of the United Federal grand jury on the charge of conspiracy and fraudulent use of the mails resulting from his connection with the National Trust company, Samuel Graham, a wealthy Montreal broker, Everett Bufour and Harry Lewis were indicted in the same connection.

Like a Cat on a Wall.

A Scotch highland milder was very fond of commenting on such words as he read it out. On reading the story of "Walk through me up," he said: "Yes, it all sounds a bit like my brother, who was the top of a wall covered with ivy leaves and bits of moss, and he was as fit as a fiddle and A STROKE OF FORTUNE.

The Bit of Good Luck That Overtook Barney O'Connor.

WEALTH THRUST UPON HIM.

The Visitor That Called to See the Man Who Had Been Injured--The Sight That Greeted Him and the Hasty Proposition He Handed Out.

Several years ago two brothers named McDonald were in business in Halsted street. Among the habitués of their establishment was a man named O'Connor. A man named Anderson then was claim agent for the street railway company that connected Halsted with Chicago.

Barney O'Connor was a happy-go-lucky chap who didn't worry much about anything. He was partial to his beer, had no kith or kin to be responsible for, cared little for clothes and worked only when it was absolutely essential, which wasn't often.

McDonald Bros. liked to have Barney around on account of the wit he had brought with him from the old sod, and so they found little tasks for him to do. One day Barney was loafing around McDonald's about half 11 illuminated and in an extremely rosy frame of mind when they decided they wanted some goods over in the city. Barney was delegated to go after them. He stopped at the corner buffet, hoisted another one and took a car for the loop.

The car was crowded fore and aft, and Barney got on the aft. He didn't get much more than halfway on the step when there came a jolt. The crowd surged back on Barney, and he, with several others, was dumped into the street. Barney suffered worse than the rest, as he was underneath. But he wasn't hurt badly. He was knocked unconscious, but after they carried him into a store and threw cold water on him he came out of it in good shape. All that remained were a few cuts.

The conductor, however, was excited. He was new at the business, and when he took the names and addresses of the victims of the crash he got considerably balled up. Perhaps he made Barney's injuries a little more grave than they really were.

After O'Connor got over his dizziness he went on uptown and bought his stuff for the McDonalds. He also visited a drinking place on Randolph street. It was there that he learned of a clam bake that was to be held that night at a saloon on lower Halsted. Celebrations of this sort appealed to Barney, and he resolved to be on hand.

He was. They had a lovely time. Along about 12 o'clock the festivities became superjoyous, and arguments arose. Barney was in the midst of these. Fisticuffs followed forensic froth, and O'Connor was numbered among the slain.

How he got to his room he couldn't explain coherently. He sure was some beat up. What they didn't do to him wouldn't take long to tell. It was the completest walloping he ever had experienced.

He slept late. When he woke up 1 wished he could have slept later. 1. found moving undesirable after an attempt or two at it, so he stayed in bed.

About 2 o'clock in the afternoon the landlord of the rooming house came up and told Barney a man wanted to see him. Seldom had Barney had visitors, and his curiosity was aroused. But it wasn't strong enough to induce him to get up. He told the landlord to have the man sent up to the room.

Anderson, out to settle early and avoid the rush, came in and took a look at Barney. He nearly fainted.

"If I get out of this on less than $1,000 I'll be lucky," he told himself. Then he proceeded to business.

"It kind o' bunged you up, didn't it?" he began as a feeler. He couldn't say less, for he had a conscience.

"Well, some," acknowledged Barney, not grasping the pertinence of the question, but realizing its truth.

"You know, a suit always involves a lot of delay and trouble, and the company has better facilities, and it's better for the plaintiff to settle."

"Wot are yez talkin' about?" Barney broke in.

"Why, I'm from the street railway, and we want to see if we can't fix this up for you for getting hurt. We want to do what's right; but, of course, you understand."

Barney saw a great light. It made him forget his woes.

"Do yez mean ye want to pay me fer fallin' off the car yistiddy?" he asked. "That's the idea," answered Anderson.

"Well, here I am," said Barney.

"How much am I offered?"

Anderson hesitated.

"Uh--er--I think--er--how'd two fifty strike you?"

"I think it's worth at least five," he replied.

"Now, look here," explained Anderson, "if you fight this case it'll cost you at least $100 for a lawyer. You might get $200 in a trial, and still again you might get nothing. It's always a good idea."

"If yez mean ye'll give me $200?" interrupted O'Connor, sitting up quickly despite his aches.

"That's it," replied Anderson, so fascinated by the picture of war's horrors portrayed by Barney's face that he failed to notice the surprise in his tones.

"I'll take it," said O'Connor in a hurry. "Bring it to me all in quarters."--Chicago Tribune.

The period of deepest sleep varies from 3 o'clock to 5.

FANCY WAISTCOATS.

Introduced by an English Monarch by Way of Economy.

The waistcoat--when at least it is a "fancy vest"--is the last remaining vestige of the gorgeousness which was once displayed in men's dress, and on Oct. 15, 1688, Pepys chronicles its first appearance on the person of Charles II. The novel garment was a "long cassock," as the diarist terms it, worn close to the body. It was of "black cloth, pinked with white silk under it."

Men will agree that the waistcoat is a convenient and commendable garment, the absence of which would deprive them, to speak of no other discomfort, of an invaluable set of pockets. It appears strange, therefore, that it should not have come into being at an earlier date.

Soon after the restoration a sleeveless vest, which likewise left the waist open, was worn under the doublet. It was not a true waistcoat. This style of dress was brought from France by Charles II. From beneath the fullness of shirt exposed by the open vest "the breeches displayed their expanded width," with bunches of ribbon at the waist and lace ruffles below the knees. The doublet worn over the vest was richly laced and embroidered. So costly was this mode of attire that the king resolved to give the lead toward a more economical and sober fashion, and in the fulfillment of this design he doctored the new garment, which Pepys hailed with pleasure.

Such were the circumstances which attended the introduction of the waistcoat. It came in the name of economy and reform, but ere long it developed into as expensive and decorative a garment as any which man has ever taken to himself. Gradually it was extended downward till it almost reached the knees. It was made of the richest materials, and the outer coat was shaped to hang well open to display its magnificence.

Extravagance and love of finery were simply transferred from one style to another, and on the waistcoat was lavished all the embellishment which previously had been bestowed on the breeches. Those flowered and embroidered waistcoats of sheeny satin, with laced flaps, may certainly have been less troublesome and fantastic than the preceding fashion, but whether they reduced the wearer's account with his tailor is highly doubtful.

The long flapped waistcoat remained in favor many years. It was still worn by noblemen and gentlemen when George I. was king. In the following reign a somewhat shorter waistcoat was prevalent, and from this time the flap began to decrease in length. Instead of reaching almost to the knee it came only halfway down the thigh. As men's dress became more simplified toward the close of the eighteenth century and puffing, lace and embroidery were abandoned the flap disappeared.--London Globe.

The Name "Pepys."

How should "Pepys" be pronounced? Percy Lubbock, who wrote a biography of Samuel Pepys, declares "Peeps." But there are many people living and talking who call themselves "Peppis." In 1679 was published a volume called "Lucida Intervals," by James Carcas, who was a clerk in the office of Pepys. He did not like Pepys and would have been glad to spell it "Peeps." But he didn't. He wrote: Get thee behind me, then; dumb devil begone!

The Lord hath Ephthatha said to my tongue. Him I must praise who opened hath my lips.

Sent me from navy to the ark by Pepys.

From this the London Chronicle concludes that to his contemporary Pepys was "Pips."

Joe Miller Was Not a Joker.

Joe Miller, who is generally believed to have been the soul of wit, never made a single joke in his life. He was an actor and so grave in manner as to become the butt of other people's hilarity. When any witticism went the round Miller was accused of its authorship, and he would never deny it. He lived an exemplary life and died universally respected. But no sooner was he dead than appeared "Joe Miller's Jests; or, The Wits' Vade Mecum," compiled by "Elijah Jenkins, Esq."--that is to say, forged by John Motley, the Jacobite, just as years before Hobson's "Polly Peachum" and Ben Johnson's "Jests" had been forged.

The Masculine Wig.

Civilization has to thank the French revolution and the subsequent wars for masculine emancipation from the wig. It was partly the scarcity of flour and the war tax on hair powder that banished the powdered wig, but partly also the leveling influence of Jacobinism. "I do not know the present generation by sight," wrote Walpole in 1791, complaining that the young men "in their dirty shirts and shaggy hair have leveled nobility as much as the nobility in France have."

Unfair.

Hazel, aged seven, while feeding the cat at the dinner table was reproved by her father, who told her that the cat must wait until later, whereupon the small girl wept and said:

"I think it is a shame just because she is a poor dumb animal to treat her like a bird!"--Harper's Magazine.

But Did She?

"My new dress awfully," she sighed. "If you weren't here I'd take my hair off and rest it."

"What?" he cried.

"I mean down," she corrected.--New York Press.

The corruption of the best becomes the worst.--Latin Proverb.

THOMAS J. LYNCH, PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Tom Lynch, who was recently elected president of the National league, was one of the best umpires that ever trod a diamond. He began in the Eastern league in the early eighties and went to the National in 1886. He soon earned a reputation not only for eminent fairness of judgment, but was known far and wide as the firmest disciplinarian in the business. He quit umpiring in 1895, after he was sharply criticised by one of the stockholders of the New York club for fining two of the players. Lynch then went into the theatrical business, but he has since kept close tab on baseball, and everybody who knows him is certain he will make good in his new place.

OLD WORLD ARMIES

Drafting Methods by Which Their Strength Is Maintained.

TRICKS OF THE CONSCRIPTS.

All Manner of Dodges Are Adopted by the Eligible Young Men to Avoid the Enforced Military Service That is So hateful to Them.

We hear a good deal about conscription, but few people know what it actually means. In no country is every person who is able to fight drafted into the army. All males who are liable to serve undergo a physical examination, resulting in only a certain number being passed as fit for service.

No government has sufficient funds to draft the whole of these men into the regular army, so a selection is made by ballot, the number of men enrolled varying according to the funds in the hands of the authorities.

The pay provided for the conscript is necessarily very trifling indeed and will not compare with that paid to volunteer soldiers. In fact, it is generally true that the conscript must fall back upon his private means.

The methods vary in every country. But take the case of one European power. Every male subject not physically incapacitated is liable to enter the army at the age of twenty, although those who care to enlist may do so at eighteen.

A register is kept of all the youths who reach the age of twenty in the particular year. Men under five feet two inches in height are exempt from service, as well, of course, as those who suffer from natural infirmities which render them unsuitable for active service.

Other men are also exempt if they have helpless dependents--thus the only son of a widow or of a disabled father, the latter category also including the only son of a father who is above seventy years of age. Then the eldest of a family of orphans is exempt, and in the case of two sons only one is liable, there being various other exemptions.

The term served by the conscript is one of twenty-five years, three years being spent in the regular army, six and one-half in the army reserve, six in the territorial army and the remaining nine and a half years in the territorial reserve, all liability to service ceasing at forty-five.

The service is frequently so hated that all manner of methods are adopted in order to avoid it. In many cases substitutes are provided by the wealthy, though there are stringent regulations with regard to the provision of the substitutes.

In most European countries military malingering in order to avoid compulsory military service has reached the stage of a fine art. In fact, a formidable list of new crimes has been added to the statutes as a result, and medical men frequently have to suffer for their assistance in this particular kind of fraud.

Thus some time ago a number of Cologne doctors were arrested upon a charge of having administered pills to young conscripts. These pills consisted of drugs which produced the symptoms of heart disease so effectively as completely to deceive the military authorities, with the result that the conscripts were declared unfit for service. In this case the fraud was brought to light by one of the conscripts dying as a result of an overdose of the medicine.

In Germany, where the conscript is frequently treated with the greatest harshness, there are very few towns where there are not specialists whose living depends solely in inducing such a condition of affairs as will render young men exempt by reason of unfitness.

In the French army it is quite common for youths to feign all manner of ills, deafness being the usual ailment trusted to in order to escape the service. As a result the military doctors have made an especial study of methods of detecting feigned deafness and to trap the cunning youth who acts the part of a deaf man.

Another common practice in France is to tamper with the eyesight, though this frequently results in permanent injury. For instance, short sight is produced by wearing powerful concave glasses for a considerable time despite the risk of bringing about permanent blindness. It is no uncommon occurrence for men to commit suicide rather than submit to forced service in the army.

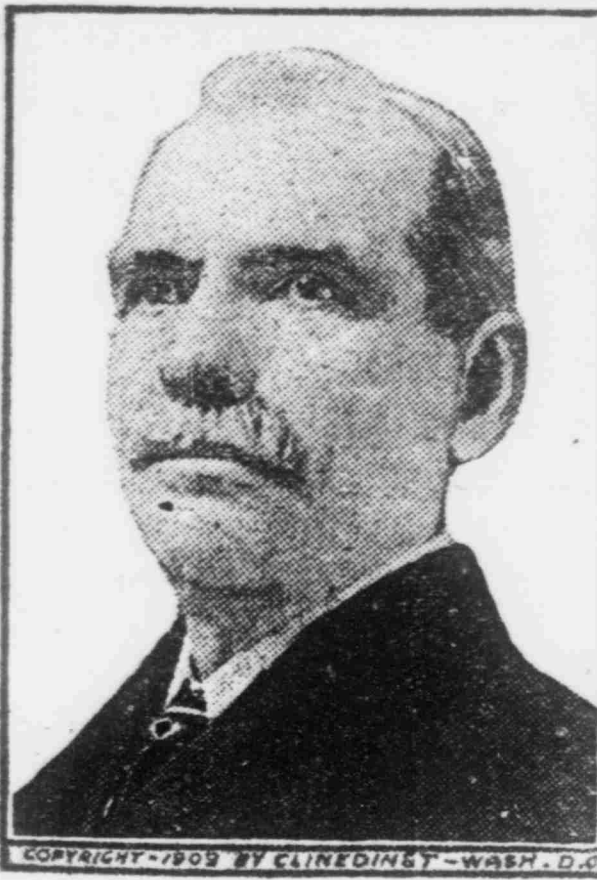

In eastern Europe most brutal methods are adopted by parents in order that their sons may be able to work for them instead of serving in the army. The boys are frequently ill treated, and it is not at all uncommon even for their limbs to be broken or their sight to be destroyed in order to prevent any likelihood of their having to become soldiers.

Switzerland probably has the cheapest army and the least burdensome methods of conscription, the service being much lighter than in the other continental armies. Indeed, the conscript in the infantry army has to undergo actual training for only 115 days during the entire period of his service.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Air Germs.

Ordinary air is by no means air proper. It is proved to contain a number of impurities, and the air of cities always contains a quantity of almost measurable particles of dirt. With this dirt are also carried along many small portions of living matter and germs. These germs, which are carried into a room by the air, grow and multiply. Such are the germs of disease, and such is the origin of many of the most fatal of the diseases that afflict humanity.

WESTERN AVIATOR LANDS
ON PEAK OF MOUNT RANIER

Donald Weatherby, 22 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Weatherby, of St. Mary's, Wash., was the first
to land on the peak of Mount Ranier, Colorado, after two years, devoted to experiments with his own invention as a means of reaching the summit.

With two companions aboard his aircraft, Weatherby circled the Summit of Mt. Ranier. The party alighted on the rim of the crater of the mountain at an elevation of 15,000 feet and then sailed off over the snow fields.

The new feature of the Weatherby machine is the substitution of a new system of undulating planes for the ordinary revolving propeller, by means of which the machine has demonstrated a speed of 120 miles an hour without vibration or jar. The machine is made of thin sheets of aluminum, is covered with steel and has a long skate front which acts as a steering rod and maintains the machine in the air.

The machine is the first of its kind
to land on the peak of Mount Ranier,
the highest of the Rocky Mountains, at an elevation of 15,000 feet, and is the first machine to land on the peak of Mount Ranier.
